"it is unconscionable that uk drug enforcement spending continues to deliver such appalling outcomes, this is when these unsupervised kids begin to get into trouble and start the long road to incarceration. people imagine this open air drug market all around chicago but what i've seen has been the farthest thing from it.

The NGO aimed to combat poverty and increase access to services in underdeveloped parts of the country by, among other things, teaching Brazilian youth English and other foreign languages.